

Key point: The focus of this chapter is on learning elementary programming techniques to solve problems.

2.1 Introduction

- This chapter introduces primitive data types, variables, constants, operators, expressions, and input and output